Comment from Paula that you should check or clarify:

I find the language at 3.3, p. 2 contradictory: one place states "before bonus" while the footnote states after bonus. In cases of lack of clarity, awards are made in favor of the non-drafting party..... (see attached copy with highlights)

Mike--Bill Hanson and Pettys have now joined the others, although Pettys in a vague way. It might make sense tomorrow for me to address the court first, so that I can confirm that the Committee does not want to oppose the appointment and we can right off the bat relieve the judge of any concerns about the Committee's bottom line. I can also describe the Committee's contribution to the revised Employment Agreement so that he knows the Committee has been actively involved. You can then do clean up if Alston has additional questions.

The Pehls are not available on February 28. What are the options here? Are they going to be asked to travel for this? Video/telephone dep? Also, I understand that Ross has recently filed his appeal brief in the Cohen case (9th Circuit/16-15943). What is the story on the appeal bond? Did the court waive that? Thanks.

Paula says no meeting between Ross and Committee members. Ross is probably lying to Bressler about stuff like this to try to persuade Bressler that Ross has the creditors on his side. Bressler probably told Lerner the phoney story that Ross had told him.

Subject: RE: Case Rumors

Petteys and Ciappellone have advised me this morning that rumors among creditors and the Committee have reached an apparent fever pitch (behind my back and without my knowledge), ostensibly propagated by Ross Hansen but received with some credibility by some other creditors:

- 1.) $1 million in gold came to the Mint from Switzerland shortly before or after Mark C. was appointed. Ross claims to have pictures and serial numbers. What happened to this gold? Did Mark C. sell or dispose of it?
- 2.) After he was appointed, Mark C. "fire sales" coins and other items at Auburn at substantially discounted prices to coin dealers and others.
- 3.) What happened to the spectrometer that I have previously asked about? This is a very hot button issue and I need to address it with the Committee. Dick Pehl thinks it was worth tens of thousands of dollars but was sold for $3,000. He claims to have spoken to the guy who purchased it.
- 4.) FBI has told Bucknell that they are not indicting Ross or Diane but that they are investigating Mark C.'s conduct as trustee (!!!).
- 5.) The estate is completely broke and at the March 1 status conference, the court is going to convert (or consider converting) the case to a Chapter 7.

There is at least one Committee member who apparently swallows this garbage and is advocating for trying to do a deal with Ross. The atmosphere is toxic. Please give me a response on items 1-3. Thanks.

Subject: RE: Case Rumors [KLG-USW_Active01.FID52176]

Mike--At Tuesday's Committee call, it was made very forcefully clear to everyone that no Committee members should ever discuss or disclose information to Ross Hansen. Bill Hanson assumed that this message was specifically intended for him. He does not reach out to Ross but Ross calls Bill, whom Ross presumably sees as a weak link in the Committee chain. I do not think that any other Committee members share anything with Ross. Bill Hanson reported that Ross called him after the Committee meeting and attempted to scare him into believing that Bucknell would be filing a conversion motion (that Alston would supposedly grant at the March 1 status conference!!) and that the business would be "shut down in about two weeks." Ross also apparently tried to scare Bill into believing that the Trustee's recent engagement of Murphy proved that the Trustee was preparing to liquidate the entire business immediately. I think that Bill Hanson does see all this as a desperate attempt by Ross to scare the Committee into supporting Ross's plan to return to management of the business. I do not see Committee members (including Bill Hanson) further interacting with Ross.

We should be careful about this. The privilege still only applies to communications with counsel for the purpose of conveying legal advice. That certainly covers all of our communications: Calvert/Northrup/Gearin. And is covers communications with the committee where K&L is involved. There is risk that direct communications between the Trustee and the committee that do not involve counsel would not be covered by any privilege.

I sent a very tough letter to the Committee, asserting that whoever disclosed this should resign from the Committee. Bill Hanson has now just called me to confess that he did it accidentally. The Bressler issue and another issue were in the same sentence of my long email to the Committee last night and Bill claims that he only intended to mention one thing to Ross but accidentally mentioned both items, including the Bressler settlement information. He said that he knew he screwed up the minute the words left his mouth. Bottom line: he said he would resign. He said he was frustrated and sick of dealing with Ross anyway. Whether or not the other Committee members will try to keep him, I do not know.

FYI--I have been advised that the Pehls, apparently with some support by the Hoffs, are likely going to challenge the $190k proposed Murphy sale on the basis that specialty equipment of this kind needs to be advertised nationally and sold by a national outfit like DoveBid or Koster Industries. Murphy will need to provide evidence of such national marketing and bid solicitation and also provide evidence to justify the proposed sale price, such as appraisals conducted by other equipment experts.
